Components

Message attachments

This section displays various components of a Slack message attachment:

- pretext: This optional text appears above the message attachment block.
- color: Like traffic signals, color-coding messages can quickly communicate intent and help separate them from the flow of other messages in the timeline.
  - Danger!
  - Warning!
  - Everything's ok!
- title:
  - Title with a link: A title with a blue link icon.
- text: Optional text that appears within the attachment can contain standard message markup. The content will automatically collapse if it contains 700+ characters or 5+ linebreaks, and will display a "Show more..." link to expand the content.
- field:
  - Field: This one is not short. In fact it is long. It spans the full width of the attachment.
  - Field - short: Two fields side-by-side. The first says "This is short".
- image: (0KB) A placeholder for an image.
- thumbnail:
  - Title: This is the text of the attachment.
  - author: Author Name
  - footer: Footer | Month Day, Year at 0:00 PM

Message buttons

This section shows four states of a message button:

- Normal: Primary, Default, and Destructive buttons.
- Hover: The same three buttons with a slight shadow.
- Pressed: The same three buttons with a darker shadow.
- Active: The same three buttons with a bright glow effect.
